Affinitas Intimates - Parfait

I'm on a bit of a lingerie love cloud at the moment. It's mainly because I'm surrounded by La Perla and also because I'm doing a 'boudoir' photo-shoot this weekend in London – hence suddenly my attention has been drawn to the aesthetics of perfect lingerie. Every woman should know that a great outfit first requires great underwear – it's not just about a pretty twin set, but more about structure, shaping and support for your curves. A well fitted bra is notorious for completely changing a woman's appearance. Ladies, there is no point purchasing a high-end designer dress, when your bra is more high-street and sadly losing its support. So, this is where I introduce you to...Affinitas Intimates.

Based in L.A, Affinitas Intimates has finally crossed the ocean to treat us British women with a happier and sexier underwear drawer. These lingerie collections are currently stocked in huge stores over in NYC, such as 'La Petite Coquette' and boast of celebrity shoppers such as Heidi Klum (If she's wearing it...I'm wearing it!). Each piece has had thorough attention, from the specially crafted soft-to-tough material, unique and beautiful designs and most importantly – the comfort and fit.

For all you busty ladies out there, Affinitas have a treat for you. They have a new complimenting line out 'Parfait by Affinitas' which has been created purely to serve women with a larger chest area. I've noticed that large-breasted women often buy purely functional underwear, as the support to 'cage their beasts' is more significant than pretty lacy pieces. 'Parfait' turns this completely on its head, showing us that big is most definitely beautiful and these fashion-forward styles will makes you ladies want to embrace your curves, not hide them!

"The line's cut-and-sew bras feature 2-3 hook closures, plush body elastic, side boning and power netting for superior support, as well as U-shaped comfort backs to prevent straps from slipping, while bottoms feature plush waist and leg elastics, as well as fold-over elastics."
