"I want lift without tons of cleavage"

Emily Mastrangelo, 24, told us that most bras either smushed her D-cups together or left them bouncing around. The Solution: Underwire bras that are lined but without push-up padding. "I feel supported," she said, "but my breasts aren't the center of attention."

- (1) Elle Macpherson, sizes 32A-36DD ($68, net-a-porter.com)
- (2) B.tempt'd by Wacoal, sizes 30-38B-D, 32-36DD ($40, btemptd.com)
- (3) Panache Atlantis, sizes 30-38AA-DD ($49, [bare necessities.com](http://bare necessities.com))

"I think I'm wearing the wrong size"

Penny Wrenn, 33, was tired of her bra straps sliding off and the band riding up. The Solution: A proper professional fitting revealed Penny's true size: 32D, not 34C. "A bigger cup made all the difference," she told us. "I'm not buying another bra unless it's the right one."

- (1) Fruit of the Loom, sizes 34A-B, 36B-C, 36-38D ($10, Walmart, 800-925-6278)
- (2) Maidenform, sizes 32A-D, 34A-36DD, 38B-DD ($32, maidenform.com)
- (3) Vassarette, sizes 34A-36B, 38B-C ($10, Walmart, 800-925-6278)

"I'm over ugly granny bras"

Jennifer Maitland, 26, wanted support without frumpiness for her 36F's. The Solution: Sexy, lacy bras that not only come in her size (yay!) but give her the lift she's looking for. "The new bras feel great," she says. "I swear I could go for a job in them!"

- (1) Parfait by Affinitas, sizes 30-40D, DD, F, FF and G ($45, herroom.com)
- (2) Vanity Fair, sizes, 36C-42DD ($32, macys.com)
- (3) Wacoal, sizes 32-38B-C, DD, 32-40D-DD ($46, wacoal-america.com)

“I need a bra for a sexy dress”

Stephanie Augden, 28, didn't want to go braless under a backless look.

The Solution: A bra designed for revealing looks is a style-saver. “The straps were complicated,” Augden says, “but it stayed in place—and made me look a lot perkier!”

- (1) Lily of France, sizes 32–36A, 32–38B, 34–38C ($30, macys.com)
- (2) Spanx, sizes 32A–42DD ($62, spanx.com)
- (3) Arianne, sizes 32B–38D ($28, Town Shop, NYC, 212-724-8160)

“I want to be curvier up top”

Nicole Bardis, 22, is a B-cup but still wants to feel “curvy and sexy.”

The Solution: Demi-cups and a tight-around-the-back fit (she's only a 30!) emphasized what's real without adding anything that's not. “I feel like a new woman!” she says.

- (1) Smart & Sexy, sizes 36B–D, 38C, 38–42D ($15, smartandsexy.com)

- (3) Calvin Klein Underwear, sizes 32A–36D ($48, cku.com)

No. 1 Diversify

“You need six styles in your bra wardrobe,” says Eyvette Manigault (above) of New York City's Town Shop. “Smooth, strapless, sporty, sexy, a T-back bra and a leisure bra—comfy and soft.”

No. 2

Hit the Sweet Spot

“Your nipple should line up halfway between your elbow and your shoulder,” says Tiffany Aschenbrenner of Fruit of the Loom. “If it doesn't, you could be wearing the wrong bra.”

No. 3

Do a Proper Try-On

“For a perfect fit, put your bra on while bending forward so your breasts fall into the cups,” says Norah Alberto of Maidenform. “Then fasten the back and adjust the shoulders.”

No. 4

Bring a T-shirt

“A great-fitting bra will pass the T-shirt test,” says Denise Skelton of [bare necessities.com](http://bare necessities.com). “It should look smooth and invisible.”

No. 5

Find Your Go-to Style

“Wear your favorite bra to the store,” says Janie Schaffer of Victoria's Secret. “Show it to the expert, and she'll help you find a similar one.”
